financial gift they can give to a non-profit activist organization they would like to support)

The Most Important Reason for Taking These Minicourses: To Lift Your Voice, To Help Others to Lift Theirs

The most important reason for taking these minicourses is that they will help you master the academic and democratic competencies you need to advocate solutions to social and ecological problems that you care deeply about and to, in turn, to help others to lift their voices in unison with yours.

My Minicourses

Finally you can click on “My Minicourses” (next on the right of this menu) to keep track of how many courses you have completed, how many you are currently working on, and a list of other courses you could consider taking.
